In accordance with the provisions of section 3 of the tariff act of 1850, known as the reciprocity section, on January 7th last Secretary Blaine addressed notes to the representatives in this city of Austria-Hungary, Colombia, Haiti, Honduras, Nicaragua, Spain for the Phillipine Islands, and Venezuela, informing them that unless some understanding were reached as to a commercial arrangement before March 15th, the President would be compelled to issue his proclamation imposing the duties fixed in that section on sugar, molasses, coffee, and hides, the products of the countries named. A commercial arrangement with Nicaragua has already been published. It is understood that a similar arrangement has already been agreed upon with Honduras and will be announced within a few days. Also, that Austria-Hungary has made a definite proposition as likewise Spain respecting the Phillipine Islands, which give promise of an early and satisfactory adjustment. This leaves only Colombia, Haiti, and Venezuela subject to action under the tariff law, and as to these countries the President to-day is sued his proclamation declaring the duties set forth in section 3 in force as to sugar, molasses, coffee, and hides, the product of or imported from them. Speaker Cardwell's Views.

President for the next four years. Mr. Cleveland has a great many triends and admirect in Virginia, and Mr. Hill has a very strong following, and the apparent dissensions in New York tend to impress our people with the importance of looking well into the situation before committing the representatives of the party in Virginia to any particular candidate; but Virginia will, of course, east her electoral vote for wheever may be selected as the party's candidate.

iii, in the 34th year of her age.

We miss thee from our home, dear,
We miss thee from thy place:
A shadow o'er our life is cast.
We miss the sunshine of thy tace.
We miss thy kind and willing hand,
Thy fond and earnest care;
Our home is dark without thee—
We miss thee everywhere.
Sed and silent is the household.
